Ike's 'Yes Or No' Expected Today

Portland, Saylorsburg Areas Hiked

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28 (AP) — The Public Utility Commission today approved an estimated $230,000 a year rate increase on a graduated basis by the Pennsylvania Community Telephone Co., Dallas, effective Thursday.

The increase will affect 14,376 subscribers in six eastern counties by the end of 1957. The utility originally proposed to raise all rates March 1 throughout its service area in Chester, Dauphin, Lancaster, Northampton, Monroe and Schuylkill counties. However, it decided to defer the boosts in eight of its 17 exchanges until they are converted from lower grade magnet to modern dial operation.

9,031 Affected

First increases totaling $142,218 a year, will be made effective Thursday for 9,031 subscribers in these exchanges already on dial or modern common battery service: Atglen-Christiana, Gap, Gratz, Portland, Rawlinsville, Saylorsburg, Tremont, Pen Argyl and Bangor.

The second set of boosts, estimated at $64,031, will be made at intervals for 3,936 subscribers as dial operation is introduced in six exchanges in Dauphin, Schuylkill and Lancaster counties.

The other exchanges will be converted to dial equipment and the higher rate next year.

Present single line residential rates range from $3.45 to $3.90 and will go up to levels ranging between $5.25 and $5.75. Current single line business rates are at the $4.50-$6.25 range; new, $7-$8.

Free Service

Among other changes, the company will inaugurate free local service between Bangor and Saylorsburg and between Pen Argyl and Saylorsburg. This move will eliminate a 10 cent toll charge between those points and result in an estimated $2,262 annual saving.

Further, four-party line service will be restricted to present users in the Bangor, Elizabethtown, Gratz, Lykens, Millersburg, Pen Argyl, Portland, Saylorsburg, Tremont, Valley View and Tower City-Williamstown exchanges. Such service will not be offered new subscribers.

A public hearing on Portland's formal complaint will be fixed as soon as possible, the PUC said.

Ike Seeks To Regain Lost Cotton Marts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP) — The Eisenhower administration announced today an aggressive sales program to regain a larger share of world cotton markets for the American farmer.

With White House and State Department approval, Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced that beginning Aug. 1 the government will offer its surplus stocks of cotton abroad at cut rate prices.

These stocks now total about 12-million bales and represent a government investment of more than two billion dollars. Cotton from the stocks will be offered abroad on a competitive bid basis in contrast to the higher, government-supported prices prevailing in this country.

Egypt, a cotton-producer immediately objected to the plan.

Leap Year A Gyp To Those Born On Day, But Gals Think It Fine

By Leonard Randolph

(The scene is a large meeting hall. The time is today. As the curtain rises, a large group of persons is assembled. They are engaged in a heated discussion. Finally, a slender man of 65 walks to the front of the auditorium and takes his stand in front of a microphone. After rapping repeatedly for order, and getting a semblance of silence, he speaks.)

Okay, friends! No verbal objections having been recorded, the first meeting of the "We Got Gyped Club" will come to order. As you know this meeting was called to protest against the vicious inequities of Feb. 29th. All of us here have been cheated for years by the ridiculous calendar that regulates our lives. (A roar of outraged approval goes up from the crowd.)

It's time something was done. (Another roar.) Look at me. Here I am, an old man. Bones creak. Got rheumatism in both legs. Last year I retired on Social Security. Yet I've only had 16 birthdays in my whole life.

It's Unfair

I ask you. Is this fair? (Shouts of "No! No!" go up from the assembled group.) Are we to go on like this—waiting four years for a birthday or an anniversary? (A grizzled gent with long grey whiskers hops on a chair and yells: "Down with Leap Year! Down with Feb. 29! Somebody else yell: 'Sit down before you fall down.' He does. But not before a rumble of applause erupts.)

Think of the gross unfairness of this whole thing. Look at me! Sixty-four years old and I still have to put up with smart cracks about being sweet 16 and never been kissed.

Look down there. There's the two Fleming boys. Twins. They been on this earth the past four long years. Today they're going to have their first real, honest-to-goodness birthday. (Murmurs of sympathy rustle through the auditorium.) Not that Gladys and Joseph won't have the biggest celebration in the world for Joey and Jack, but think how long it'll be before they have another real one. Or take my good friends the Shellenbergers from Delaware Water Gap, for instance. Herbert and May been married 48 years. They got three grandchildren. But that's not the worst of it. They got five great-grandchildren, too. And yet, today, they'll only be celebrating their 12th anniversary of wedded bliss, if you put stock in such things. And all because they went and got married on the coldest February 29th in the history of Monroe County. Remember the day. Back in 19-ought-8, it was when Rev. Alfred Morse from over at 540 Scott St., who'll celebrate her ninth birthday today. Then there's Mrs. John Wellington. She lives on Scott St., too. And Mrs. Anna K. Meixell, on Dreher Ave. Then there's George L. Heller. He was born way back in 1888. So what happens today? Today he gets to celebrate his 17th birthday. Is this justice? Or take little Mary Madeline Kipa from up around Tobyhanna RD 1. She's eight years old and she's only had two real birthdays. And over at 529 Avenue F in Stroudsburg, there's Forrest J. Fabel, born 40 years ago and celebrating his 17th birthday. Is this justice? Well, first of all, there's Mrs.

BROAD GRINS FOR A BIG DAY — Over at 819 Scott St., Stroudsburg, these two handsome young lads will be celebrating a red-letter day: Their first official birthday. Although they're four years old, Joe (left) and Jack (right) Fleming were born on Leap Year Day (that's today); consequently get cheated out of birthdays most of the time. Mom says they generally have party on Feb. 28 or March 1, instead—but nothing quite as big as celebration the Flemings plan for twins today. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

White House Staff Fends Off Queries

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP) — Speculation concerning the second term question reached a fever pitch tonight as President Eisenhower scheduled a news conference for 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

There was widespread expectation that Eisenhower would use it as the setting for his announcement on whether he will seek another four years in the White House.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty denied tonight a radio commentator's report that Eisenhower had already sent word to Republican leaders throughout the country that he plans to announce his willingness to serve for another term.

Hagerty said: "This is just another one of those stories. I suppose there will be a million of them before the night is over."

"No word, one way or the other, has been relayed to Republican leaders—or to anyone. Nor has any statement, one way or the other, been circulated."

Hagerty added to an inquiring "He had just made would report that he hoped the state- take care of all your queries." He asked the reporter to include that last remark, so he wouldn't be kept awake all night commenting on similar reports.

"If Drafted"

The report about Eisenhower's willingness to run came from AEC commentator William Winter in San Francisco. He said in a West Coast broadcast that he had definite information that Eisenhower would seek another term as president "if drafted."

"The President will indicate," Winter said, "that while he believes no man is indispensable, he would be happy to serve if the people want him."

President aides were completely close-mouthed as to what Eisenhower would say tomorrow.

The man who advises Eisenhower on his big broadcasts—TV producer Robert Montgomery—showed up at the White House shortly after Hagerty fixed the time for tomorrow's news conference.

Doesn't Know

Asked whether he had come to Washington to help with a special presidential broadcast, Montgomery replied smilingly: "I don't know."

The press secretary stated there are no plans to hold a second news conference tomorrow. Questions along this line were prompted by speculation that the President might prefer to hold up any announcement regarding his political plans until after the 3:30 p.m. EST closing of the New York stock exchange.

Eisenhower has expressed concern about stock market fluctuations which have marked the course of his illness.

'Dump Nixon' Move Opposed By Senators

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP) — Sens. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) and Allott (R-Colo.) said today they would oppose any effort to dump Vice President Nixon from the GOP ticket if President Eisenhower runs again.

Eisenhower is generally expected to indicate at a White House news conference tomorrow whether he will be available for a second term race. Both Goldwater, retiring chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, and Allott, a staunch Eisenhower backer, said they think he "yes."

Goldwater said that in his travels across the country he has encountered many Republicans — he added that he does not agree with them—who think that Eisenhower ought to change running mates as the late Franklin D. Roosevelt did twice in his four terms.

When John N. Garner, an opponent of a third term, retired in 1940, Roosevelt picked Henry Wallace for second place on the ticket. Wallace gave way in 1944 to Harry S. Truman, who succeeded to the presidency at Roosevelt's death in 1945.

Goldwater said he doesn't want to see any GOP shift this year. Allott said in a separate interview he doesn't agree with those who think Nixon should be replaced. He said Nixon has "done a good job."

GOP Pushes Plans For Three Percent Sales Tax

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28 (AP) — Senate Republicans kept to their time schedule today in driving toward passage Thursday of a 3 per cent sales tax as the GOP-controlled Finance Committee approved five revenue-raising bills.

"We'll amend the bills tomorrow and be ready for a vote on Thursday," said Sen. Kessler (R-Lancaster), Finance Committee chairman.

The Democratic caucus is on record as opposed to a sales tax as the lone major means of raising new income to meet the Commonwealth's rising costs.

Democrats Offer Help

However, the Democratic leadership has offered reluctantly to supply voting help should Republicans fail to muster their full 26-vote strength.

The Senate has been the graveyard of three previous major tax plans—two of them recommended by Gov. Leader and passed by the House. The third was a converted sales tax drawn by Republicans from Leader's recommended manufacturers' excise tax.

The new sales tax showdown will come when a 2 per cent sales levy approved by the House as part of a bipartisan compromise tax program, including also an income tax, is increased tomorrow to 3 per cent.

Meals, Clothing

Inserted also will be restaurant meals and individual clothing items costing more than $50.

Another part of the House-passed compromise tax program will be altered to place a 3 rather than 2 per cent levy on hotel and motel rooms. Beer and liquor will be removed from the tax.

Asked whether rooms in rooming houses would be included, Kessler replied: "Yes, it would include conceivably even flop-houses."

Also brought out by the committee and put in position for possible passage by Thursday were three business taxes introduced many months ago.

Corporate Tax Boost

Of these three, Kessler said a measure boosting the corporate net income tax from 5 to 6 per cent might be amended still further. He did not elaborate.

The other two are postponement of the manufacturers' exemption from the capital stock tax and acceleration of the capital stock tax.

Three Held In Brink Robbery

BOSTON, Feb. 28 (AP) — Two men and a woman were picked up for questioning today in connection with the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery. Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne indicated at least one would be booked later as an accessory before the fact of the theft.

The trio was rounded up by detectives from the district attorney's office, headed by Capt. Francis Wilson. They were questioned individually by teams of detectives and FBI agents in separate offices in Suffolk County Courthouse.

Investigators hinted the trio has vital knowledge of the robbery and said that one was "cooperative." Byrne said that the woman is the wife of one of the men.

Kilgore, New Deal Democrat Succumbs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP) — Sen. Harley Martin Kilgore, 63, New Deal Democrat from West Virginia, died early today of a brain hemorrhage.

Kilgore, who suffered from high blood pressure, had been in a semicomatose for the last two days at Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Maryland.

A "minor stroke" last Saturday put him in grave condition, and a second cerebral hemorrhage took his life at 2:23 a.m.

3-Term Senator

Kilgore was the first man West Virginia ever sent to the Senate for three consecutive terms. And, since 1911, he had been one of the Senate's most ardent champions of "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" legislation.

Kilgore's death temporarily reduced the Democrats to a bare 48-47 voting edge in the Senate. But the party's margin presumably will be restored to two votes when Gov. William C. Marland of West Virginia names a successor. Marland is a Democrat.

In Charleston, West Virginia's capital, there was immediate speculation over whom Marland would choose. Among those mentioned were National Committeeman Arthur B. Koontz, a lawyer, and former Circuit Judge R. D. Bailey of Pineville.

The governor's appointee would serve at least the remainder of this year. A permanent successor elected in November will complete Kilgore's term, which extends through 1958.

Boy Charged With Pipe Killing

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28 (AP) — Police reported a 13-year-old boy who weighed less than 100 pounds picked up an iron pipe and beat a 190-pound schoolmate to death today as the climax to a fight on the way home from school.

Police said Eugene Psota of suburban West Homestead tearfully admitted the slaying of John B. Wilinski Jr., also 13. Psota was arrested on an open charge.

Psota and Wilinski, both altar boys, were in the eighth grade at St. Ann's Roman Catholic School. Police Chief Gervis Kudis of West Homestead said Psota declared Wilinski often had taken his homework and had bullied him.

Chief Arthur Swink Notes Spotless Record As He Closes Long Service As Policeman

By Paul Carlson

CHIEF ARTHUR Swink will be sitting behind his desk at the East Stroudsburg Police headquarters for the last time today.

Tomorrow he'll go into retirement after 30 years on the force.

During his police career, Chief Swink has had a hand in nabbing bootleggers, disarming suspects with his bare hands, and simply keeping neighborhood kids from playing hooky.

"I came in with a clean slate," Swink said last night. "And I'm going out with a spotless record."

Public Cooperative

Swink credits much of his success as a policeman to the cooperation of the public.

"A policeman," he'll tell you, "has to have the support of the people, he has to think quickly and act fast when he needs to."

"He also needs some good luck,"

the chief will add.

And Swink's record as a police officer show that he's possessed these qualities himself — and has had that necessary bit of luck, too.

The chief began working for the borough on Jan. 3, 1926.

"It was rough," Swink recalled last night. "We worked 12 hours a day and we had no police car until 10 years ago, so we had to use taxis for emergency calls."

13 Dead, Hundreds Hurt In B&M Train Wrecks

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Feb. 28 (AP) — A Boston & Maine Railroad passenger train sped through two snow-obscured warning signals today and knifed into the rear of another train, killing 13 persons and injuring more than a hundred.

The railroad said the signals were tested after the wreck and "found to be in perfect working order," although obscured by snow and ice. The B&M said the engineer, Ernest Tourtelotte, 55, Winchester, who died in the crash, violated operating rules.

Similar Circumstances

A short time later, another B&M train rammed a halted train in nearby Revere, injuring 20 persons. The railroad said that mishap happened "under similar circumstances."

Some of the injured were in both wrecks.

Escaping from the fatal crash of a Danvers-Boston train, they boarded a Marblehead-Boston train at Swampscott station to continue on their way. It collided with an earlier train which halted while its crew checked a signal.

The first wreck happened an hour and a half earlier in Swampscott, about 12 miles northeast of Boston. The four-car, self-propelled Danvers train struck a Portsmouth, N. H.-Boston train which had halted for a signal.

Passed Caution Signal

The B&M, after a "preliminary investigation," said it "appears" that the Danvers-Boston train "passed a yellow caution signal located near Jefferson Avenue in Salem about 1 3/10 miles from the stopped train and in violation of operating rules ran by a red stop signal located in Salem about 3,200 feet behind the halted train."

"The train then passed a flagman protecting the rear of the Portsmouth train and collided with the halted train."

Negro Student Court Fight Up Again

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 28 (AP) — A Negro woman's 29 month fight for the right to study at the all-white University of Alabama will be renewed tomorrow in a small federal courtroom here.

Basically the issue is whether Autherine Lucy, 26, former school teacher, should be permitted to return to the university's Tuscaloosa campus.

Though actually enrolled at the school, Miss Lucy was suspended Feb. 6 by the board of trustees after a mob objected violently to her presence at the school which once trained officers for the Confederate army.

Her attorney, Arthur D. Shores, asked Federal Dist. Judge H. Hobart Grooms to jail the 17 defendants, including 13 officers and trustees of the university, for contempt of his July 1 order.

It was that order, directing the admission of Miss Lucy, that set off a storm of pro-segregation reaction throughout Alabama.

Stevenson Raps Dulles As 'Rattled'

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson criticized today what he called "off-again, on-again incidents" in Republican foreign policy.

"I would say that I pray our government isn't as rattled and confused as it appears to be," he added.

The candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination spoke informally with reporters. He is in New York for a series of conferences with his backers.

Referring to the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy, Stevenson said:

"Last Friday, the secretary of state said that the new Russian economic and political challenge was a sign of weakness, which amazed the whole world."

"On Sunday he appears to have reversed himself and said it was a threat for which we needed more money."

"Last week we had the off-again, on-again incidents of tanks for Arabia."

Judge Stearne Dies Suddenly At Age 73

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28 (AP)—Justice Allen Stearne of Pennsylvania's Supreme Court died suddenly today from a virus infection that hospitalized him two weeks ago. He was 73.

The unexpected death of the Philadelphia-born jurist, who had been a member of the state's highest appellate court since 1942, means that two justices will be up for election this November.

Stearne had been scheduled to succeed Horace Stern, also a Philadelphian, as chief justice next January. Stern is completing his 21-year term and members of the court are not eligible to seek re-election.

Longest Service

Under court rules the man with the longest service becomes chief justice. Stearne's death moves Charles Alvin Jones, a Democrat, into the No. 1 spot to succeed Stearne.

Stearne died in Hahnemann Hospital at 8:02 a.m. At his bedside were his widow, Mary, and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy M. Starkey.

The justice was admitted to the hospital Feb. 13 with a virus infection.

Stearne, whose family has lived in Philadelphia for six generations, graduated from the University of Pennsylvania law school in 1906 and practiced his profession for 22 years before being appointed to the Orphans Court of Philadelphia in 1927 by the late Gov. John Fisher. He was elected to a full 10-year term in the fall of 1927 and re-elected in 1937. Five years later he won election to the high court.

Stearne was the second top Pennsylvania jurist to die in the past two months. Judge E. Clair Ross of the State Superior Court died early in January of a heart attack. Stearne, a quiet but firm figure on the bench, was an expert on estates and wills and many of the court's decisions on cases involving these issues were written by him. Expected to get top consideration for the vacant post are Republican Blair Gunther of the State Superior Court and Democrat Abraham Freedman, Philadelphia's city solicitor. When two seats on the court are vacated, each party can elect only one man. Thus it is possible that the two candidates already slated—Attorney General Herbert Cohen, the Democrat, and Judge Benjamin Jones of Luzerne County Common Pleas Court—might not get organized opposition.

TWIN-TRIGGERED

for double-action take-off

(Have you tried the new Variable Pitch Dynaflo?*)

This is something you'll find only in a 1956 Buick. And we think this action is so exciting, you ought to come in for a sampling before another sun sets.

For Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo is more than just the smoothest, the sweetest, the most responsive transmission yet developed.

It's quick and it's nimble—it's a gas-saver and a great safety factor—the most thrilling safety measure on the American scene today.

When we say twin-triggered, we mean just that.

You move the first trigger the moment you press the gas pedal no more than an inch.

That nudge taps a fraction of the mighty power in Buick's big 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. That nudge gives you quick new getaway response. That nudge brings you all the power and snap and performance you need for normal driving and cruising. And since all this is at only part throttle, your gas mileage goes up substantially.

Then comes the next trigger—when you need all-out acceleration for an emergency safety-surge.

You just floor the pedal—and that switches the pitch of this airplane-principled transmission.

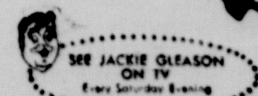

Instantly, you're at full-power take-off—and it's like a second getaway cutting in—a thrill and a safety sweep like nothing you've ever experienced before in an earthbound vehicle.

Surely you owe yourself the treat, the twin thrills, the deep satisfaction and just the sheer fun hours that go with driving the best Buick yet.

Why not come in tomorrow and match up the words with the action?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Trucker Hurt In Collision

MINOR INJURIES were suffered by a 46-year-old truck driver yesterday morning when his truck was in collision with a car on Route 115, six miles north of Brodheadville.

Fern Ridge State Police said icy road conditions had forced Stephen Kalafut of Wilkes-Barre, to bring his truck to a halt at the foot of Effort Mountain.

While his vehicle was stopped, troopers said, a car operated by Charles Blackwell, 25, West Nanticoke, came down the hill and crashed into the front of the truck.

Pastor Named Trustee Of Local College

STATE SENATE will be asked to confirm Rev. John B. Bergstresser, pastor of Hamilton Lutheran parish, as a trustee of the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

The name of the Monroe County clergyman was sent to the Senate by Gov. George M. Leader.

Assigned to the Hamilton parish five years ago, Pastor Bergstresser's charge includes Christ Lutheran Church, Hamilton Square; Mount Eaton Church, Saylorsburg; Zion Church, Brodheadville; and St. John's Church, Bartonville.

Pastor Bergstresser attended the Hanover and Selinsgrove schools, Susquehanna University and Mount Airy Seminary in Philadelphia. He served for three years with the 213th Coastal Artillery Battalion in North Africa, Italy, Corsica and Southern France.

Waring Is Named Editor Of Yearbook

POTTSTOWN—William Griffith Waring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Waring, Shawnee-on-Delaware, has been elected managing editor of The Dial, the senior class yearbook at The Hill School.

William, who entered The Hill in the fall of 1952, is also chairman of the Senior Dance Committee and co-director and producer of the Senior Class show.

Public Speech Class Starts Thurs. Night

MONROE COUNTY YMCA will offer a course in public speaking beginning Thursday at 8 p.m., under the direction of John R. Wilson, general secretary.

The course, which will run for 10 weeks, will include practice in impromptu speaking, formulas for preparing talks, how to introduce speakers, how to present and receive a gift, how to use notes to advantage, audience appeal, delivery and use of gestures. These lessons will be beneficial in helping to overcome stammering, loss of memory and repetition caused by stage fright, Wilson said.

At the end of the 10 weeks there will be a dinner for the group with certificates being given to all who complete the course. Senior members of the YMCA are being offered the course free of charge. Non-members will be charged $15 for the complete course.

All interested persons are invited to the first meeting without obligation.

Chief Swink Recalls Record As He Prepares To Close 30-Year Career As Policeman

Swink indicated there was plenty of work for a police officer during prohibition.

"We'd get a tip that someone was selling booze and then get search warrants," he recalled. "At one time, we were making a raid about every other day."

Bootleggers From Canada

Along with the speakeasies, he continued, there were also the bootleggers who had to pass through the Stroudsburgs on their way down from Canada.

"One fellow we got had his sedan loaded with the stuff," said the chief. "He lost his car and his liquor."

"After prohibition," he continued, "the CCC camps gave us a lot of trouble. There wasn't a day you didn't have a fight."

Although there's never been any really serious crime in East Stroudsburg, the chief observed, he was forced to disarm criminals with his hands on two occasions.

One time, he had gone out West with another police officer to return a prisoner to this state.

Prisoner Gets Weapon
Road conditions had been hazardous on the return trip, Swink recalled. While both officers were keeping their eyes glued to the road, the prisoner was able to get the gun of the second policeman.

"Be careful," warned the other policeman. "He's got my gun."

No sooner were the words out than Swink swung around and caught the prisoner in the neck with the flat of his hand.

"That knocked him off guard," Swink said.

Poultrymen To Gather

A DISCUSSION of the poultry industry in Monroe County will take place in the Stroudsburg Municipal Building today, starting at 1:15 p.m.

A. E. Ifft, county agent, who arranged the program, said F. H. Leuschner will lead off with a report on "The Poultry Outlook for 1956."

He will be followed by a panel discussion by these local poultrymen: Carl Michaels, East Stroudsburg, on "Broiler Production;" Harry Hobbs, Seleta, "Turkey Production;" Omar Michael, Shawnee, "Records of Production and Costs," and possibly Elmer Veety, "What It Takes To Make a Good Chick."

West Poconos To Discuss Promotions

PROMOTIONAL plans for the coming season will be discussed at a meeting of the Western Poconos Vacation Association at 8 p.m. Monday at Varkony's in Saylorsburg.

Mrs. John Shotwell, association secretary, said that the meeting is scheduled for a discussion of a highway sign program and other promotional plans.

The association is embarking on its second season, she added.

District Forester Clyde Pyle will be present to speak on fire prevention and forest preservation.

All Class A and B members are invited to attend.

'Buying Spree' Coming To End

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—Easter shopping will boost retail sales in March but there are "definite signs that the buying spree is coming to an end," Sales Management Magazine said today.

The magazine noted a shift to a buyer's market and the foremost retailing fact as a comparative lag in automobile buying. There are indications the lull may be affecting high price lines and luxury goods particularly, it said.

Monroe County Welcomes Vick Co. To Growing Family Of Industries

Transfer of the National Drug Co. to the control of Vick Chemical Co. is a move that should have tremendous meaning for the company's research and production laboratories at Swiftwater.

National has enjoyed a prominent position in the antibiotics field and is America's largest producer of yellow fever vaccine.

Vick Chemical Co. numbers plants at Greensboro, N.C., Philadelphia and New York among its far-flung holdings. Its drug products are household names across the country.

Acquisition of National puts Vick into the field of antibiotics on a full scale, as a news article in The Daily Record pointed out yesterday.

It now has 11 major divisions, but National will be its only laboratory concentrating on the manufacture of biologics for human use.

An acceleration of National's research program is indicated under Vick's vast corps of chemists and technicians, backed by all the know-how and necessary financial backing of a large corporation and fortified by the solid reputation that National has built up over the years.

Monroe County welcomes Vick Chemical Co. to its growing family of diversified industrial and business concerns. May the new friendship continue to grow and prove mutually beneficial as the years pass.

Slow, Sensible Approach Vital In Solving Integration Dispute

Everyone interested in finding the best possible solution to the bitter segregation issue hopes that level-headedness will prevail today when Negro co-ed Autherine Lucy's suit for readmission to University of Alabama classes reaches Federal court.

While Miss Lucy has been cast in the role of a racial martyr and a large segment of the white population in the South has spoken out against racial integration in the schools, there are too many extenuating circumstances in the Lucy case to say that the dispute will turn on the decision reached at Birmingham, Ala.

The segregation issue has provoked recklessness in both North and South that may jeopardize and delay eventual settlement of this problem.

Unwise statements such as those attributed to Governors Harriman of New York and Williams of Michigan, advocating use of Federal force to impose equal rights on southern states, can serve only to inflame passions.

Southern spokesmen who call for public rejection of the Supreme Court's ruling giving Negro children the right to attend the same schools as white children commit similar disservice.

In the North, where the Negro is in the minority, desegregation has been carried out easily. In the South, where separate schools have been traditionally maintained for the two races, it has been necessary to approach the transition more slowly.

The Supreme Court wisely left it to the respective states to find the solution, each in its own way but without procrastination. The same spirit of patience and understanding must be applied to enforcement of the court's edict. It is an hour for moderation.

George Sokolsky Says... State Department In All Administrations Has Way Of Messing Up Internal Politics

The State Department, in no matter whose Administration, has a penchant for messing up internal political situations. The reason is that the State Department's business is to deal with foreign countries and also to make deals with them. The Arab countries, having come into existence only since World War I, have achieved a degree of skill as blackmailers unequalled by any other countries and there is no one in the State Department smart enough to know how to deal with blackmailers except by giving in to them. It is to be expected that that is what will happen all the time as it has been happening for years and it makes little difference what the name of the Secretary of State is.

The Arab blackmail is that if the United States does not give in to the demands of each one of the Arab nations, they will go over to Soviet Russia. And each one makes heavier demands and Egypt, which has made its deal with Russia, makes the heaviest of all.

The heartbreaking task of a Secretary of State is to remember all the deals he made; then he must recall all the deals his allies made; and sometimes they conflict. And then he must figure out if there is any possibility of renegeing on a deal without losing an ally and if not, how he can satisfy a country while he is consciously committing a doublecross in the interest of some country.

This is called diplomacy and its greatest exponent was Talleyrand who outlived all of his friends whom he aided to the gallows; his enemies he left to others.

We have no Talleyrand in our State Department and therefore, it all becomes very confusing as the Arabs labor to extinguish Israel which the State Department helped to bring into existence. The shipping of arms to any Arab state is exactly a war-like act against Israel and the shipping company that took out war insurance was acting correctly because that shipment could well be blown up and then we should have a little war on our hands.

It is difficult to understand why the United States needs to be in the arms and munitions business, anyhow. Why not leave that to the British and the Czechs who wish to be merchants of death for whatever the profit? Why should the United States not take the position that it manufactures arms and munitions for itself, for NATO and SEATO and that is all?

If that position were taken, what would happen to all the little deals which all the smart little men in the State Department have made with similar little men all over the world — little deals that are marked "Top Secret" and may not be spoken about, little deals which are constantly being violated to our detriment?

Someday, maybe a century hence, if the documents are not burned, a student of history will spend a lifetime ferreting through State Department files uncovering the little deals from 1938, when Roosevelt became an internationalist, to 1957, when the system exploded into the new isolationism. What a time this digging candidate will have particularly on the subject of Arab states and Israel, a complex of deceptions with no moral guidance at all.

But it will not matter so much then, because probably by that time there will be a totally different dispensation. What is clear now is that the Election of 1956 in the Northeastern states of this country will not be fought out over the issue of Ike Eisenhower's virtue over any Democrat who is nominated, but over the shipment of arms to the Arabs in consonance with some State Department deal which it took 48 hours to remember.

Deweyism in politics means being so absolutely sure of an election that a party loses one of its enemy never believed it could win. The greatest danger that can face the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket is Deweyism. Any party, any candidate can lose an election by making errors which shift the segments of votes from one column to another.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

Letters For Special Delivery Dear Duchess:

In your magazine autobiography you say that if, before the "eleventh hour," you could have had a full understanding of what marrying King Edward meant, it might all be different and I hope you are not saying a keen, highly sophisticated gal like you "goofed." I don't dig your long delay in getting the picture. You know Edward was a king, and not king of a musical comedy kingdom like Allagazania. You must have had a faint idea that the marriage would bust British traditions wide open, put the world in a dither and maybe cost Eddie his job. What did you expect up to the eleventh hour, an Oscar, or news that it was all a movie?

You say, "I was unprepared for the great crisis which found myself not only in love with, but loved as few modern women could ever expect to be loved with a great throne at stake and a great empire seething." Well, nobody can say a preparedness program is not "a must" in such cases. Any girl should have one. With thrones at stake and empires seething it is a big error to be caught not knowing what's going on. I realize that a woman can be upset when a king says, "I love you. Be my wife," and that events can get blurred even if he just says, "Let's go steady." But I don't see how you could get caught so short and left so baffled until the last minute when everybody on earth had been reading about the romance and possible consequences for weeks. "I stood alone and defenseless in the storm," you write. "Mistakes were made by me and by others whom I might have influenced but for lack of communication and understanding." Surely you must have seen the weather predictions. And, Duchess, I should think the Duke would be chirping, "This is a fine time to tell me," to that reference by you to "mistakes." (I hope you are just putting the rap on the British phone, telegraph and radio service, and not on Eddie or the marriage).

Well, anyhow, yours is the Autobiography of the Month and I rate it far over Harry Truman's, which lacked love interest and passed off "mistakes" lightly, except MacArthur's. The world has been waiting for years for your side of it. It has always been for you and for Eddie as colorful figures in one of the world's greatest love stories. Best wishes and a long and happy life together with no more hints that either of you goofed.

"Long Day's Journey Into Night," the strikingly frank story of his family life by Eugene O'Neill is not new stuff up around New London, Conn., where he was raised and where he was for a time a reporter. . . . New Londoners knew all about James O'Neill, Gene's father, who had won fame as one of the tragedians of the era. . . . "The Count of Monte Cristo" and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" had made him notable in show business, and as a kid we remember seeing him in both at Bunnell's Grand Opera House in New Haven. . . . The Wallingford tuberculosis sanitarium where young Eugene was sent desperately ill, is on the crest of a hill overlooking the little town of Wallingford, between New Haven and Meriden, and it was then a pretty dreary spot. . . . The only cheery place near is Oakdale Tavern, famed then as now as "the only inn in Connecticut where Washington never stopped" and it is ironical that today, on the grounds of this inn, there is a big summer theater which shows O'Neill masterpieces and other plays. . . . It is almost in the shadow of the room where O'Neill spent his days of dreadful sickness and despair, and where he first felt inspiration to write for the theater. . . . Jackie Gleason's rating has zoomed since the change of hour and it could be due partly to the fact that on his first 8 o'clock program the dog in the touching sketch about a pooch played with more restraint than could be found even on the Como show. . . . The pup is the only performer taking it easier than Perry. . . . The freighter Monroe is getting the headlines when what the world needs is Marilyn.

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE Children Reading Rapidly And Better, Studies Show

The controversy as to whether or not Johnny can or can't read is enough to whet his curiosity, making him an avid seeker after his own publicity. And a good thing, too.

A Boston lady is the latest to write: "Why, oh why did you goof on your column 'Johnny CAN read'—? You certainly did not sink your teeth into any research. We need people like you, who can write and will realize Johnny is not reading well. Also all the Marys, too. . . . I've met so many mothers crying outside libraries and schools, it's far from funny. Please write another article on this later."

People who write do indeed have a solemn responsibility toward readers who honor them with attention, particularly as concerns the education of children.

What are the facts about reading? There are literally hundreds of studies which prove that children today read better—by age, by grade, by any standard you may choose—than they did even last year. Not to bring up those hokum days of little red schoolhouse, vintage Grandpa.

Just since Mr. Fleisch's declamation was published ("Why Johnny Can't Read") trained reporters have scattered by plane, train and auto throughout this country visiting schools, watching, listening, poring over records, talking with parents and educators. What did they find? Facts, not opinions or impressions or wishful thoughts.

And what are the facts? Johnny, Mary, Isabel and Robert are reading rapidly, better than ever. And understanding what it says there.

Why, then, are there parents who would nominate Fleisch for Vice President in charge of Phonic Reading? Why are there mothers weeping on the library steps? Children who cannot keep up with their grade, high school students obviously hovering around fourth grade reading levels?

Parents whose child reads badly can seldom accept the high-sounding statistics elevating other Johnny's. They are resentful, confused, bitterly disappointed. Teaching methods are to blame. When a writer like Fleisch appears to condemn American education as vastly inferior to European, to sneer at our reading methods and state falsely that phonics is not taught in our schools—these parents are jubilant. They have found—at last—the answer.

It is offensive to admit, as a parent, that one's child might suffer from visual or hearing defects. It is almost intolerable to admit he might suffer emotional handicaps. Most parents secretly believe their offspring are of superior intelligence—as yet unrecognized, perhaps—but just wait. He takes after me, doesn't he?

Certainly it is no light matter, anything but "funny," to observe a child falling behind in the most important learning ability—reading. But it is sheer quackery to suggest that the schools are at fault. Additional, specialized help in remedial reading is the only answer. Work not on the outside of school or library, mothers. Step right in to the principal's office, find out the truth about your child. And then, if he needs more help than our present facilities can possibly provide—get it. And hard as it may be, thank the good Lord that educators today have the means and the "methods" of pinpointing your child's difficulty. Fifty years ago he would have been passed over as hopelessly unteachable.

Our schools are far from ideal. Teachers, bless them, are harassed, overworked and underpaid. Some of them, it is true, are not as well qualified as we would like. But, my friends, it is you and I who are responsible for that. Writers of any moral stature at all should speak out, just as this reader suggests. And I, for one, will have no part of the current superficial and despicable criticism of the schools which denies them credit for what they have done so well.

You think it could be better? It could. It will, when you and I make it possible.

Robert S. Allen Reports Wilson Scuttles A-Plane Research Project Work

Washington, February 29 — Defense Secretary Wilson has shelved a "highest priority" research project in the effort to develop an atomic plane.

That's the latest bombshell exploded by Trevor Gardner, who resigned as Assistant Air Force Secretary in charge of research because of objections to restrictions on the guided missiles and planes program.

The top priority research project discarded by Wilson offered the possibility of appreciably cutting the time in achieving a nuclear plane.

So far, upwards of $300,000,000 has been spent by the Air Force and Atomic Energy Commission in this tremendous undertaking. They are seeking an equal amount for this purpose in the new budget. But, according to Gardner, lack of funds forced abandonment of the highly promising research project.

Note: "REDWING" is the code name for the new series of nuclear tests in the South Pacific. The predominance of air drops is the reason for this designation.

Heart Toll — A grim report on coronary thrombosis (heart attack) is being privately circulated among members of Congress.

Fifty per cent of Navy men who suffered such attacks died within one year.

That's the report of the Navy's Bureau of Medicine, on the basis of a two-year study. Says this survey:

"Of 111 coronary thrombosis patients, 56 died within 24 hours, 2 within six days, 2 within 30 days, 1 within 3½ months, and 50 survived beyond the first year after attack."

Also in congressional hands are the minutes of a meeting last November, in the office of a high Navy official, at which it was decided to retire officers who suffer heart attacks. Following is what this unpublished Navy document says:

"Officers will not be retained in a permanent limited-duty status following a coronary, but will be retained in a limited-duty status for a short time to take care of personal affairs. . . . Coronary cases are considered unfit and should be retired from active service."

On The Spot — A number of leading advertising agencies are being asked for a detailed report on the amount of radio and TV time they are buying for political purposes in next fall's national elections. This mandatory request is being made by Representative Emanuel Celler, chairman of the House Anti-Monopoly Investigating Subcommittee. He plans to hold extensive hearings on the matter, and in preparation for that has directed the advertising firms to submit full reports on their political contracts.

My New York

New York — Things one New Yorker thinks about: For some time those of us who occupy our minds with such gripping problems have been confused about whether Arlene Dahl is Rhonda Fleming or vice versa.

The traveling Miss Fleming, who's made five movies in the past nine months and is just back from five weeks on the African veldt, whatever that is, dropped by today to set us straight. "I just finished making a film in which she and I played sisters," she said, "and do you know? We don't look alike at all. Oh, we both have red hair and green eyes and similar complexions, but that's where it ends. Anyway, we're very different. Arlene's more the delicate, fragile, indoor type. Me, I'm earthier." Miss F.'s green eyes gleamed interesting.

She was in town to help exploit While the City Sleeps, made from Charles Einstein's excellent first novel. The Bloody Spur, but her mind was full of Africa. "We tented down—and I mean tented down—in Kenya, 250 miles from Nairobi and really nowhere. It was right in the heart of the Mau Mau area and I didn't sleep the first couple of nights. Three miles away, a European woman and her daughter were butchered—listen, Ruark's Something of Value might have been rough but it doesn't begin to tell the way it really is."

"I was congratulating myself on escaping food sickness when one day I had to do a scene by a waterfall—and I had to open my big mouth and get a gallon of waterfall in me. Sick as a dog for the next week."

I knew we were odd here but I just learned today that a lot of New Yorkers have the habit of putting pennies in the heels of each shoe to avoid colds they feel coming in. "Some think," reports the Kaz Koob Research bureau, which has been investigating such superstitions, "that sneaking into the subway without paying their fare is another preventative. This worked in reverse for one gentleman, who caught cold in jail waiting for his lawyer to bail him out."

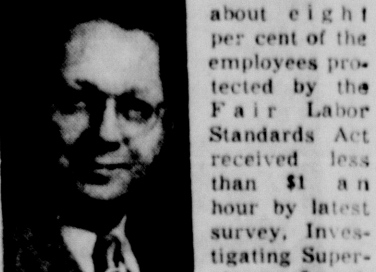

The odd-instrument parade continues locally. Now at the St. Moritz Cafe de la Paix on Central Park South is Toni Kovacs, who's playing the cymbalom nightly. Miss Kovacs, who has recorded with Stokowski, says the cymbalom is a cross between a harp and piano and is referred to in the Bible as a dulcimer. Local 802 of the musicians' union, I was startled to find, has 22 cymbalom players in its ranks.

Why booksellers grow old: A man dressed all in blue entered Barnes and Noble's famous downtown Fifth Avenue store recently and ordered a batch of blue-covered books, insisting they be wrapped in blue paper. When told the store had only green paper, he walked out. The celebrated old shop, which some have compared with Foyle's of London, also sold a thousand books the other day to a race track owner who wanted his office to look "scholarly."

Fair Labor Report

—by H. G. Heller

In the northeast, including both New England and the Middle Atlantic States of Pennsylvania and Delaware about eight per cent of the employees protected by the Fair Labor Standards Act received less than $1 an hour by latest survey. Investigating Supervisor Joseph P. Cassidy of the U.S. Department of Labor's Wage-Hour office announced.

Consequently, he said, such employees will be entitled to wage rate increases when the $1-an-hour minimum wage under the Fair Labor Standards Act (Wage-Hour Law) becomes effective March 1, 1956.

Increased Earnings The survey was made by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics in April 1954, since which time gross average hourly earnings in manufacturing industries in the United States as a whole have increased about seven per cent.

In the leather industry, a recent survey showed a little more than one-fourth of the workers in the Northeast area were paid less than $1 an hour. In the men's and boys' shirts industry, some 22 per cent of the workers in New England and 26 per cent of those in the Middle Atlantic States were paid less than $1 an hour.

Among industries for which studies were made recently which are expected to feel some impact of the new minimum wage are cigar manufacturing, wood household furniture, envelope manufacturing and synthetic textiles.

The investigation supervisor pointed out that the new minimum wage, enacted by Congress last summer, does not affect all employees.

It applies only to those engaged in interstate commerce or producing goods for interstate or foreign commerce, including those whose work is closely related and directly essential to such commerce.

More Than Score Of Persons Mark Leap Year Birthdays

brating his 10th Feb. 29th today. Out around Saylorsburg we have Linda Louise Altamus. Linda's eight years old and she's a second grade pupil at the Wind Gap school. And how about a cheer for Joan Pleyer, Stroudsburg RD 2? (The crowd cheers).

Up at the other end of the county, at Long Pond, there's a guy named Elmer Kresge who's got a birthday today. Over on Stroudsburg RD 3 they'll be having a birthday party tonight for Mark DeSanto who was born on Feb. 29, 1944. And at 212 Main St., Stroudsburg, Mrs. Bernice Joyce Chamberlin has a birthday today.

Willard at Scotrun

Then out at Scotrun there's Francis J. Willard. His wife, Ethel, asked us to wish him a happy birthday and make it good and strong because he hasn't had as many of 'em as he should have, considering he only gets one every four years.

We've found lots of other people in the same boat we are, from outside our own area here. Believe it or not we got letters about people with Feb. 29 birthdays in Philadelphia and Scranton. Then, of course, there's Mrs. Estella Gilpin Christman who's the postmistress up at South Sterling. She's the fourth generation of the Gilpin family to be in charge at the post-office, starting with her great-grandfather in 1848, right on down to the present.

Among the others: Marilyn Hanson, born Feb. 29, 1952 in Monroe County General Hospital, who lives at Columbia, N. J.; Mrs. Edna Ray up at Dallas RD 2, who was born in 1892; Mrs. Carolyn Heydt Pohl of Philadelphia, who was born in East Stroudsburg, according to her mother, Mrs. Harold E. Heydt, Cresco RD 1; Mrs. Charles Morris (Margaret Christie, from Pocono Lake, formerly) at Upper Black Eddy RD 1 and Robert Miller, 437 Larch St., Scranton, who's 64 today.

Then there's Jerome (Jerry) Block, of Scranton, who was born in Stroudsburg. He'll celebrate the occasion later in the week after accepting his discharge from the U.S. Navy.

By now it should be perfectly clear some course of action has to be taken. (A six-birthday man of 24 years yells: You're right.) Do I hear a resolution for the abolition of Leap Year? (A general shout of approval goes up. One or two persons stomp their feet. There is much arm-thrashing.) I'm sorry, this will have to be in the form of a formal motion and a second. (A grey-haired man in the rear of the room rises. "I make a mo-

Lenten Rites Scheduled By Church

REV. ROGER C. Stimson will speak on "In the Directing of My Life" at two identical Lenten services at Stroudsburg Methodist Church today.

Services will be held each Wednesday during Lent from 12:35-3:35 and from 1:30-1:55 p. m. at the church. The sermons will center around the general theme: "What Christ Means to Me."

Four Dates For Concerts Announced

The Music Parents of Stroudsburg High School learned that there will be four concerts this Spring instead of the usual four, and of the formation of a new musical group within the band at their meeting on Monday night at the high school.

Nuna Snyder and John Pyle of the high school music department announced the dates of the forthcoming concerts: March 23, chorus concert; April 27, band concert; May 14, Junior Band and Elementary Chorus concert; and May 18, combined band and chorus concert for the Booster Members.

The Booster memberships being sold by the Music Parents will this year entitle the Booster Members to attend all four concerts. New this year is the Junior Band and Elementary Chorus concert with Miss Alice Bellairs assisting. The Combined Concert on May 18 is for Booster Members only.

Pyle also announced the formation of the Band Ensemble in which 30 members of the senior band have been working on advanced musical composition. He was enthusiastic about the progress of the group which he termed a "third band." They will be heard for the first time in public at the PTA meeting on April 16.

Mrs. Robert Haigh president presided at the meeting when reports were given of the recent cake walk, and tentative plans were made for serving refreshments to the members of the chorus following the concert on March 23.

Following the business meeting, a trumpet trio composed of Nicholas LaPenna, Peter Fasino and Martin Cracole played several selections.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

To illustrate how difficult it was to tell which were the fashions being modeled and which the fashions being worn in their own right at the Medical Auxiliary tea yesterday afternoon, I'll have to tell you a story.

Vi Jones, after modeling one of originals in the show, was buttonholed as she came down stairs again after changing by one of the audience, exclaiming, "Now that's the dress I want." The difficulty was that it was Vi's own dress and she needed it to wear home.

Anyway it was a very salubrious gathering, and seemed to give Spring a little impetus with all the spring prints floating around.

The wish is probably father to the thought, but it always seems as if there were more news to be garnered in an hour at a party than a whole afternoon at the telephone. Interesting news, that is, like seeing what a pretty bride Dr. Simons has brought home, and hearing of the stories Garret Runney's sister has to tell about Alaska, and learning that the Grahams have definitely decided to move to Ohio by next Winter.

If it hadn't been so interesting inside the house, I could have written a fashion story on what women are wearing on their feet this crazy mixed-up weather just from cataloguing the footwear left on the Butler's front porch. Everything from fur-lined carriage boots, to suede, to plastics, to brass buckled arctics, and even one pair of walking shoes.

Sandra Smith Is Bride Of J. R. LeFevre

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Adams, of Barre, Vt., announce the marriage of Mrs. Adams' daughter, Miss Sandra Ostrom Smith, to James Robert LeFevre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence LeFevre, of Toledo, Ohio, on Saturday, February 25, at 8 p.m., in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe, Mich.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marie C. Ostrom, of Bridge St., Stroudsburg, and was given in marriage by her grandfather, Rev. Wilfred Simpson, who performed the ceremony.

Miss Mary Joe June, of Toledo, Ohio, was maid of honor, and Lawrence LeFevre Jr. served as his brother's best man.

The bride wore a gown of pale beige crystal with black accessories and carried a white Eibelle with a white orchid. Her maid of honor also wore beige in a faille with a corsage of tea roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride was graduated from the Barre (Vt.) High School with graduate work at Spaulding High School, and also attended Santa Monica College, Santa Monica, Calif.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Scott High School in Toledo and is a junior in the engineering school of Toledo University, where he is a member of Alpha Sigma Chi.

They will make their home in Toledo.

Hamilton Blue, Gold Cub Dinner

Hamilton Township — The second year of Cub Scouting in Hamilton Township was completed with a Blue and Gold banquet in the social room of the sponsoring institution, the Cherry Valley Methodist Church, on Saturday night, February 25, approximately 125 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, leaders, officials and guests in attendance.

Decorations were in the Cub Scout colors and each Den decorated their own table with napkins, place cards, place mats, favors and centerpieces made at Den meetings during February.

The table reserved for Den 1 featured a large cake covered with gold icing and trimmed with blue with a forty-sixth anniversary message to the Scouts, made by Mrs. Charles Schuler. An arrangement of Spring flowers graced the speakers' table. The meal was pot luck style. Rev. Clyde Levergood, pastor of the church, offered prayer.

Cubmaster A. Richard Snyder acted as master of ceremonies and introduced Detlef A. Hansen, District Attorney, and guest speaker who presented the new charter to the group as well as silver and blue liberty bell emblems for improvement, advancement and enlargement of Pack 84 as well as a ribbon for promptness in registration and payment of dues. Rev. Levergood accepted the charter in the absence of the institutional representative, Andrew Keiser.

The banquet was marked with the presence of district Scouting commissioner Victor Hoehne, Jay Snover, neighborhood commissioner, Howard Koehler, Scoutmaster of Troop 84 and his assistant William Oroski.

Cubmaster Snyder presented membership cards for 1956 to all Cub Scouts and to Den Mothers Mrs. Corona Keiser, Mrs. Lawrence Boyd, Mrs. Gertrude Snyder, Mrs. Henrietta Bond, Mrs. Virginia Albert, Mrs. Thelma Field, Mrs. Elaine Murphy, Mrs. Irene Martucci and Mrs. Florence Gestler.

General Views

Darrel Gehris by Dick Gehris & Shook

DECORATING DILEMMAS
Arise from the fact that few can start from "scratch"; the budget does limit the amount of decorating one can do. Think your dilemma out and decide which improvements are most important to you. Be in mind the most popular shades in Spring may be out by Fall. Inasmuch as you will live with your new ideas for more than six months, it would be wise to choose colors that you like and that like you.

If your kitchen has precedence in your Spring decorating plans, look to the new plastic wall tiles to bring cheer and convenience into this room. We invite you to call to see our line of the latest offerings for easy-to-care-for kitchen walls. When you drop in ask about our full line of metal edgings. ## Fashion Tea For Med. Aux. Projects about 50 strong, were guests at a tea yesterday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Horace G. Butler, 606 Thomas St., Stroudsburg.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Monroe County Medical Society and their guests,

Arranged by Mrs. Frederick Jones as a benefit for three projects of the auxiliary: The nurse recruitment program, the medical education fund, and the medical benevolence fund, the party featured a fashion showing of Jeffrey originals by their originator, Mrs. Jeffrey, of Englewood, N. J.

Mrs. Jeffrey, who first adapted the Indian skirt of the Southwest which as the "squin" skirt has swept the fashion world, had brought ensembles of gingham and dotted swiss, of subtle drapery fabric and embroidered cottons, and home-painted fabrics, each skirt with a matching blouse in one of fifteen styles, all custom made and proportioned for the figure of the customer.

The dresses were modeled by Mrs. A. Byrd McDowell, Mrs. David Kohn, Mrs. Morton Spinner, Mrs. T. L. Metzgar, Mrs. Frederick Jones, Mrs. Paul Maxwell, Mrs. Sherwood Samet and two of Mrs. Jeffrey's associates from Englewood.

Mrs. C. B. Rosenkrans was chairman of the hospitality committee. Mrs. Harold Pond and Mrs. Joseph Martucci served on Mrs. Jones' committee on arrangements. Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield, immediate past president, presided at the tea table, decorated with spring flowers.

Happy Leaping today! And don't forget to make your biggest leap right through the big front door at Wyckoff's where you'll certainly get your MAN.

As a matter of fact, we've a man for you whether you leap through the front OR back door, and Sadie Hawkins will be there to see that you get him. As I remarked to Holt Wyckoff yesterday on the radio, a woman who can get a man away from Sadie Hawkins is really something! Just in case you missed yesterday's newspaper and the WVFO spots, we might mention again that every woman who gets her man today will find (if he's a man from Wyckoff's) that he's a good provider. Each man is worth 10% of the purchase price of anything you buy . . . and there are some worth 20% and 25%.

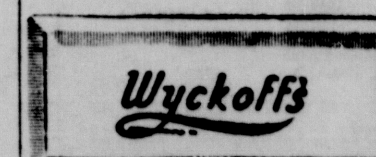

From our MENTAL viewpoint, this is positively the most IMMENSE promotion our store has ever had in the 80 years of its history. It sounds like a lot of fun too. Or did we MENTION that before?

When you're Leap Year Day bargain hunting at Wyckoff's today, take a moment to see the beautiful and imaginative Easter Egg "Free in Be a Gorgy's department. The decorating of eggs at Easter is a custom dating back to pagan times when eggs were decorated each spring as symbols of the blossoming world. This idea was later adopted by Christians in celebration of Easter.

According to Woman's Day magazine, the Pennsylvania Dutch attach special significance to the egg and in many homes an egg tree that is frequently added to or changed, is a very important family possession. Some parts of Pennsylvania even make a community project of large outdoor egg trees, notably Reading, where in 1947 the Berks County Historical Society revived the custom by decorating a 10-foot sassafras tree with 1400 colored eggs. The Reading tree numbers many wild bird eggs (gathered by special permit) among its decorations and is very similar to the traditional German tree which included hen, goose and turkey eggs, all gathered by children and decorated with ribbons, dyes, etc. German egg trees often were further enhanced by tinsel ornaments, sugar cookie rabbits and lambs, and candies. Easter surprises were hidden in an Easter nest under the boughs.

I remember that as a child I was much impressed by the story of an egg tree made by a young bride and hidden away in her closet, as her petition to the gods for a healthy, happy child. And as a high school girl, I was intrigued annually by the egg tree which Lydia Gilpin always displayed in the window of a gift shop then located on upper Main street.

Bea's Easter Egg Tree is particularly beautiful. Painstakingly she has blown eggs from their shells; trimmed away part of the sides or top with manicure scissors, painted both interior and exterior with pretty water colors, and used silver and gold braids, incredibly tiny figures of bunnies and such, beautiful artificial flowers and similar "pretties", to create works of art that are exquisite beyond description. These are priceless and lovely . . . they masterpiece that could be cherished by a family for years to come. By all means see them today . . . you'll have an entirely fresh, new outlook, and a sudden intense yearning for the thrilling splendor of Spring.

Effectiveness Borne Out In Crash Reports

FORD'S 1956 models, with heretofore "lifeguard design," save lives. This is the well substantiated fact which crash reports across the nation prove, according to Jess Haynes, local Ford dealer at Ninth and Scott Sts.

"Across the United States, and here in Monroe County, Ford owners who 'came out alive' praise lifeguard design," Mr. Haynes asserted. "Over 400,000 of Ford's 'safety vehicles' are now on the road."

Here is a recent report received here by Jess Haynes on the effectiveness of lifeguard design:

Lives Being Saved
With such a large number of the new models already sold and in service, the law of averages says that 1956 Fords are bound to be involved in collisions, due to driver error or traffic conditions.

From newspaper reports, police records and bulletins from Ford dealers, the record of proof is piling up:

Lifeguard design is saving lives and reducing injuries.

Ford's safety steering wheel, safety door catches, and safety rear view mirror have been installed on all the cars and trucks built since the start of the 1956 model. (According to Nevin Nonemacher, sales manager at Haynes Motors, Ford's newly developed safety features were offered to the entire industry.)

Here are just a few reports proving the effectiveness of lifeguard design:

A Ford salesman in Modesto, Calif., slid into a six-inch concrete culvert at 60 mph. Even though he had no seat belt, he reports the safety steering wheel, door catches and crash pads provided the protection needed to save his life in spite of the high speed impact.

Unhurt In Accident
A Houston, Tex., Ford buyer taking delivery on a weekend said he did not want the safety pads or belt on his car but was persuaded by the salesman to use the car until the dealer could have the safety package removed later.

With only 80 miles on the '56 Ford, this owner struck a parked car at 55 mph on a freeway. Though the new Ford's repairs will cost $500, the owner needed none.

Misconception: Last summer wasn't uncomfortably hot. I read somewhere that summers are getting cooler, anyway.

Fact: The United States Weather Bureau says there's no evidence to substantiate this, as a matter of fact, summers are getting hotter.

Misconception: Air conditioning is generally clammy and drafty, often gives people colds.

Fact: Not G-E Air Conditioning. G-E Packaged Air Conditioners can easily be adjusted to circulate conditioned air anywhere you please.

G-E's "Muggy Weather Control" brings humidity down to a comfortable level without overchilling on those mild, humid days. The G-E Unit filter dust and pollen from the air, often a big help to sufferers from asthma, hay fever, and other air-borne allergies.

Misconception: Air conditioning is O. K. for the carriage trade, I guess, but my business simply can't afford it.

Fact: No matter what size your business is, if you sell anything to people, you can't afford to be without air conditioning! Customers expect it today, will go elsewhere if they don't find it. Look at these volume upturns for various businesses after installing air conditioning: Men's clothing stores, 30%; restaurants, 40%; theatres, 29%; super market, 31%.

Misconception: Operating costs

LIFEGUARD DESIGN—A mother makes sure that her son is securely seated in a 1956 Ford Sunliner. Owners of new "Lifeguard Design" Fords report seat belts are "easy to live with." Belts are stronger than airline requirements and have already saved hundreds of lives.

Weiss Advises Early Ordering Of GE Air Conditioning Units

THE WEATHER OUTSIDE might not seem to substantiate this fact, but now is the time to think about your comfort during the hot summer days ahead.

M. F. Weiss, authorized General Electric air conditioning dealer at Brodheadsville, advises now is the time to plan for air conditioning this summer.

There are many misconceptions about air conditioning, Mr. Weiss points out. Here are some of them which General Electric research has figuratively "exploded."

For your health and comfort's sake, it's to your advantage to know these facts, Mr. Weiss adds.

Hotter Summers
Misconception: Last summer wasn't uncomfortably hot. I read somewhere that summers are getting cooler, anyway.

Fact: The United States Weather Bureau says there's no evidence to substantiate this, as a matter of fact, summers are getting hotter.

Misconception: Air conditioning is generally clammy and drafty, often gives people colds.

Fact: Not G-E Air Conditioning. G-E Packaged Air Conditioners can easily be adjusted to circulate conditioned air anywhere you please.

G-E's "Muggy Weather Control" brings humidity down to a comfortable level without overchilling on those mild, humid days. The G-E Unit filter dust and pollen from the air, often a big help to sufferers from asthma, hay fever, and other air-borne allergies.

Misconception: Air conditioning is O. K. for the carriage trade, I guess, but my business simply can't afford it.

Fact: No matter what size your business is, if you sell anything to people, you can't afford to be without air conditioning! Customers expect it today, will go elsewhere if they don't find it. Look at these volume upturns for various businesses after installing air conditioning: Men's clothing stores, 30%; restaurants, 40%; theatres, 29%; super market, 31%.

Misconception: Operating costs

Fact: When they install G-E Air Conditioning, most owners are delighted to find operation costs substantially lower than they expected. Unlike central plant systems, G-E Packaged Units are easily zoned to cool when and where you want for efficient and economical operation.

Tailored Installation
Misconception: If I did buy air conditioning, I suppose the dealer would suggest I buy more capacity than I really need "just in case."

Fact: Not a G-E dealer. Before G-E units are installed, a complete climate survey is made of all heat gain and heat loss factors. From this, an installation is "tailored" to your exact needs.

Misconception: I guess it takes a lot of expensive alterations to put in air conditioning. I just couldn't stand the loss of business during installation.

Fact: Wrong again. G-E packaged units come completely factory assembled, and can easily be put in place with a minimum of alteration expense, without interfering with normal business routine. Additional units can be added at any time.

Misconception: Why should I buy a G-E Packaged Unit? I hear that most packaged air conditioners are basically pretty much alike.

Fact: Not so. There are definite differences between packaged air conditioners. Only G-E offers a combination of all the advantages most desired in a packaged unit.

Students at Harrow in England once obtained gunpowder in an abortive plot to blow up a new headmaster, says the National Geographic Society.

New Spring Furniture At Miller's

THERE'S something new every day at the A. C. Miller Furniture Store! The folks down there are busy making changes in the store and ordering new Spring merchandise all the time.

The first thing most people notice as they go in is the new "rooms" that allow each room grouping to be shown in itself; and yet, you can see from one end of the store to the other. Each "room" is painted in its own individual color and most living room groups on display include sofa, chairs, end tables, coffee table, lamps and pictures.

This enables a person to visualize more easily what that particular grouping will look like in their home.

Price lines have been broadened to include low priced merchandise and go right on up the scale to such fine lines as Cushman maple, Heywood-Wakefield-Drexel, and other famous furniture in solid mahogany, cherry, walnut, etc.

Next time you're down town, stop in and see the folks at the A. C. Miller Furniture Store where there's "Something New Every Day." You're always welcome whether you're buying or just browsing!

Place Urges Early Plans For Building

PARDEE PLACE, local excavating and grading contractor, says you should plan your work early. Now is the time to make arrangements so that you can plan your building schedule properly.

Mr. Place says that this looks to be one of the busiest seasons ever according to the bookings he has already made. If you plan now for the expected time you want a cellar dug out, or a trench for your footing foundation, Mr. Place will make every effort to coincide with your schedule.

Pardee Place has the equipment to perform any of your earth moving problems, whether it be shovel work, trench digging, bulldozing or hauling sand, gravel, crushed stone or shale. Call 1758 soon for an estimate on your job whether it be large or small.

Old Timers List Program For Friday

A FULL program has been arranged for the Old Timers basketball game to be held at Pocono High School on Friday, it was announced last night by Dave Frailey, president of the Pocono High School Alumni Association.

The Old Timers, featuring many of Pocono's oldest cagers, will play two eight-minute quarters beginning at 7:30 p.m. One eight-minute period of walking basketball, where players are charged with a foul if they run, and an eight-minute quarter of direction basketball, during which time they receive written directions before moving the ball.

More Action

If the Old Timers are still breathing at this point, they will close their portion of the program

The younger players will take part in four periods of six-minutes each of regular basketball to close the program. A cake walk will follow the basketball.

Special acts are on the agenda, such as ladders, additional baskets and a host of other oddities that will be visible only to those fans attending the game.

Cavaliers Roll Up 15th Victory

cluding a perfect eight-for-eight performance from the foul line. Eastburg ran up a 36-28 advantage in field goals and connected on 26 of 34 charity tosses. Parkland converted 16 of 28 free throws. The win was the 15th in 21 outings for the Cavaliers this season. Parkland gained a measure of revenge by winning the junior varsity contest, 63-58. Kendrick piled up 25 points in a winning cause.

West Chester Nips ESSTC Five, 80-78

WEST CHESTER — A pair of foul-shot conversions in the last 10 seconds ruined a driving finish by East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and gave West Chester a thrilling 80-78 basketball victory, here on the latter's home boards.

The setback snapped ESSTC's streak of three straight games and was the 10th of the campaign for the Warriors who have won six contests. It also ruined the visiting team's chance of putting together a winning record for the present season.

Fight Back

Brilliant performances by Charley German and Dave "Kelly" McLaughlin went down the drain as ESSTC's drive to the finish line resulted in failure as Terry German, late of Allentown High, calmly stepped to the foul line with 10 seconds still to be played and sank a pair of free throws.

Commercial 'B' To Roll

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your last name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Wednesday, February 29

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Whatever you do, do it quietly and with good will; all will be easier, even that which starts out tricky. Fine rays prevail. Your plans, especially those for your activities if you have self-control.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Many things which can be eliminated for your own good and the good of those about you. Think before you decide in all matters, but do decide against any such questionable.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — The truth, yes, but say it calmly with no fear on others' faces along the way, and listen to others, too. You will go far this day with graciousness.

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer) — Be not upset at the least little thing, as day may tempt. Go along with humor and tolerance of human frailty, note how much easier things can be.

July 22 to August 21 (Leo) — How are you? That may seem trivial at first, but most are urgent for a complete and satisfactory day. Differentiate well; don't be a putter-off.

August 22 to September 21 (Virgo) — In the rush of events, be sure you are sensitive, on the intellectual side; you dislike anything crude, unworthy and ill-kempt. Naturally neat about your person, too, meticulous at times about little things. You are kind to all; nature; can be excellent student. Be careful of associations; don't let your sympathies be imposed upon. Birth date of Rosalind, and other famous composers.

September 22 to October 21 (Libra) — You may be able to go through day without obstacles, opposition, but I may be wrong. Be on guard, for some in one form or another. Don't be upset.

October 22 to November 21 (Scorpio) — Review, note where you can

Jenkins Given Youth Hostels' National Award

AMERICAN Youth Hostels yesterday presented its National Award to Edward C. Jenkins of Buck Hill Falls and Germantown. Mr. Jenkins recently retired as president of AYH to become chairman of the Board of the same organization.

Mr. Jenkins is a son of Mrs. Charles F. Jenkins of Kitchen Lane, Germantown, and the late Mr. Jenkins, historian and publisher. He is manager of Skyline Inn, Mount Pocono, and a director of the Buck Hill Falls Co. A graduate of Swarthmore College, Class of 1927, he holds an advanced degree from the University of Chicago.

AYH honored Jenkins at the annual meeting of its advisory and development committee at the Harmonic Club in New York City. Miller Moore, current president of the organization and vice president of Bankers Trust Co. of New York, cited Mr. Jenkins' several years of service to hostelling, a movement which encourages outdoor living and travel among young people throughout the world.

Other Winners

Other recent recipients of the award include John D. Rockefeller, III, also a past president of AYH; Percival Brundage, recently appointed U. S. director of the Bureau of the Budget; Arthur K. Watson, president of IBM World Trade Corp.

Last year while visiting hostels in Europe, Jenkins was honored by the French Government, when the national minister of education presented him the medal of service "Youth and Sport." In a recent letter to Chairman Jenkins, President Eisenhower cited AYH's "outstanding work in fostering wholesome outdoor recreation and education through travel."

Mr. Jenkins is past president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau and vice president of the Monroe County General Hospital.

Guidance Talks Given At School

BANGOR — Albert Weidman, secretary of the Civil Service Board, and Mrs. C. Hilton Smith of the Bureau of Employment Security, were consultants at a vocational guidance conference on civil service at Bangor Area Joint High School Monday afternoon.

Forty students from the 12 and ninth grades attended the conference.

Weidman discussed various opportunities in Federal Civil Service and explained how individuals are selected and placed in Civil Service jobs. Mrs. Smith discussed the same procedures on a state level.

Arnold Wynne, high school guidance counselor, served as conference chairman.

College Men May Apply For Tests

COLLEGE students interested in taking the selective Service College Qualification Test have until midnight Monday, March 5, to submit applications, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Francis B. McGarry, test supervisor. The local test center is at the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Purpose of the testing program is to provide evidence for local Selective Service Boards so they may consider student deferments for military registrants.

The test is scheduled to be given April 19 to college students throughout the United States. To be eligible a student must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction, and must not have previously taken the test.

Students interested in taking the test to qualify for possible draft deferment in order to continue their college education are urged to complete their application and submit it before March 5. Additional information may be secured from Dr. McGarry, or from any Selective Service Board.

Trends Mixed, But Market Closes Higher

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—Highly mixed trends prevailed throughout most of today's stock market session, but enough final buying strength appeared to enable the list to close slightly higher.

Principal gainers among major divisions were the coppers, steels, motors and aircrafts, while lower tendencies were apparent in the railroads, chemicals, rubbers, farm implements and tobaccos.

Gains extended to around 3 points while losses amounted to about 2 points at the most in key areas.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $179.60. It was off 40 cents yesterday. The current level is right near the peak of $181.50 established last Sept. 23.

Industrials Up

The mixed nature of today's market was shown by the fact that the industrial component of the average was up 50 cents while the railroads declined 20 cents and utilities remained unchanged.

There were 544 gainers and 369 losers in the list of 1,181 individual issues traded with 41 new highs and 5 new lows for 1955-56 touched. Trading amounted to 2,540,000 shares as compared with 2,440,000 shares yesterday.

Coppers displayed some of the best gains. The strength followed a Chilean demand that the price of copper be raised to 48 cents from 46 cents. Only last week the price was hiked to 46 from 43 cents.
